

THINGS TO DO › RESTAURANTS & FOOD

Octo shellfish boils, shore lunches and the Parlour food truck return

By NANCY NGO | nngo@pioneerpress.com | Pioneer Press

May 22, 2020 at 1:01 p.m.

These are strange times everywhere, but especially in the restaurant world, where the landscape seems to change day by day.

So many things come across our desks every day that it is nearly impossible to keep up, but we thought we'd start a new column to attempt to bring you all the most up-to-date information we have on new takeout, fundraisers, pop-ups, restaurant closures (whether temporary or permanent) and more. Here's what we know right now:

— Crisp & Green, the local outfit with several Twin Cities locations emphasizing healthful meals, has expanded to now offer Crisp @ Home Grocery for pickup and delivery through its app. Crisp & Green is offering more than over 100 grocery items with a lineup that includes cooked and raw options for produce, grains, proteins, herbs and spices, pantry items, cheese and dairy. In addition, the company is introducing bottles of its signature dressings available through the app. In addition to the new offerings of shopping grocery items through Crisp @ Home, Crisp & Green restaurants are up and running with the full menu of grain bowls, salads, soups and smoothies at all locations. Items are currently available for takeout, curbside pickup and delivery. There are seven Crisp & Green locations across the metro including two in St. Paul, one in Highland Park and another along Grand Avenue. For more information, download the app or visit crispandgreen.com